

■ Student Burnout Assessment Report

Generated: 2026-06-18 04:28

Burnout Risk Level: LOW

Risk Probability: 34.0%

■ What does this mean?

Your current lifestyle shows low signs of burnout. You are managing your academic and personal life well. Keep maintaining these healthy habits!

■ Your Input Summary

Factor	Your Value	Healthy Range
Sleep Hours/Night	7.0h	7–9 hours
Study Hours/Day	4.0h	4–6 hours
Screen Time/Day	6.0h	< 6 hours
Social Media/Day	3.0h	< 2 hours
Physical Activity/Week	3.0h	> 3 hours
Attendance	80.0%	> 80%
Assignments Completed	75.0%	> 70%
Motivation Level	6.0/10	> 6/10

■■ Areas Needing Attention

- Caution: High Screen Time: 9.0h of daily screen time is above average. Action: Try reducing social media to under 1.5h/day.

■ What You're Doing Well

- Great Sleep Habits: Sleeping 7.0h/night is within the healthy range. Keep it up!
- Reasonable Study Hours: 4.0h/day is a healthy study duration. Focus on quality over quantity!
- Active Lifestyle: 3.0h/week of physical activity is great! Exercise is one of the best burnout preventions.
- Good Attendance: 80.0% attendance shows commitment to your education. Keep showing up!

Disclaimer: This report is generated by an AI model for educational purposes only. It is not a medical or psychological diagnosis. If you are struggling, please reach out to a qualified mental health professional.